WEEK OF PRAYER FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY

The annual Week of Prayer for Christian Unity will be celebrated in Winnipeg from January 18 - 25, 2017. The theme and resources for 2017 have been prepared by an ecumenical team in Germany, representing various churches and religious organizations. They have chosen the theme "Reconciliation – The Love of Christ Compels Us" inspired by 2 Corinthians 5:14-20. Christians around the world are invited to celebrate God's reconciling grace, are called to recognize the pain of the deep divisions which afflict the Church, and urged to become ambassadors of Christ's message of reconciliation.

The 2017 Week of Prayer will include a CITY-WIDE ECUMENICAL WORSHIP SERVICE at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, January 22, 2017 at Grace Lutheran Church, 211 Kimberly Avenue, Winnipeg. All are cordially invited to participate in this celebration with church leaders and in the other various gatherings that will be held throughout the Week of Prayer. For more information on the city-wide service and the ecumenical choir being formed for the occasion, please see the Week of Prayer posters on the church bulletin board. One poster contains a complete list of gatherings for the week. The full list is also found on the back page of this bulletin.

Please note that this year we are following the international dates for the week. Therefore, prior to the city-wide service with church leaders, the FIRST GATHERING for the Week of Prayer will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, January 18, 2017 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, 600 Cambridge Street, Winnipeg.

The FINAL GATHERING for the Week of Prayer will be held here at Saint John XXIII Roman Catholic Church on Wednesday, January 25, 2017. On that evening we will close the Week of Prayer with Solemn Vespers for the Feast of the Conversion of Saint Paul the Apostle. Invite your Christian friends and neighbours to gather with us.

PARISH "CHRISTMAS FIESTA" FUNDRAISING GATHERING

Solemnity of The Epiphany of the Lord

Isaiah 60:1-6

The world is lost in darkness,
but upon whom God shines, it is daybreak.

Psalm 72:1-2, 7-8, 10-11, 12-13

The divine rescue is for all,
and no nation will be denied the opportunity.

Ephesians 3:2-3a, 5-6

Paul appreciates the universality of the gospel better than the disciples did.

Matthew 2:1-12

How far will you go to find the fulfillment of your heart's desire?

OF CARAVANS AND KINGS

The caravans of camels captivate us in Isaiah's lovely prophecy. Those wonderful exotic animals take slow majestic steps across the desert, padding softly toward Jerusalem. They bear on their backs kings and valuable gifts. The scene is so remarkable, it winds up in every Christmas pageant, on a good many Christmas cards, and even in Matthew's narrative about the birth of Jesus.

Or does it? If you go back and reread it, Matthew makes no mention of caravans or camels. He doesn't even use the word kings! But he does borrow the gold and frankincense from Isaiah, embellishing them with myrrh. We're within our rights, therefore, to return the favor and go back for the delightful caravans ourselves.

Movement is the common thread in these readings today. Prophecy kick-starts the motion of whole nations, awakened by the light of the world dawning after so much darkness. Bright enough for all to see, this light makes those who pursue it radiant with hope and possibility. August representatives from every nation are drawn to Jerusalem in awe. The psalm underscores the universality of this vision. Kings and gifts are reprised, and justice and peace are added to the wealth in this exchange.

So much is in motion here: camels and kings, tangible gifts and priceless divine promises! Then Paul adds his piece. A mystery now revealed sets tradition itself in motion. Outsiders are now insiders. Gentiles are welcomed into the promises once reserved for Abraham's children. For many, that's a bit much. While we're glad when gifts and promises are moving—especially when they're headed in our direction—we're not always happy when traditions start to shift or are transformed in radical ways. Perhaps this divine caravan isn't such a good idea. Some things should be fixed and immutable. When everything's in motion, we risk the security of stable truths. Surely, Paul's fellow Jews felt the same way we do. "Progress" is sometimes a mistake!

When Jesus is born, the heavens themselves are in motion in a way that could lead some people to vertigo. But not the Magi of the East. They're unruffled by the movement of a star across the sky and set their hearts on following it. They take a long mysterious journey (with or without caravans and camels) because truth itself appears to be in motion, and wise folk always want to know where it's going. In our generation, when Pope Francis is asking all of us to take the journey of faith courageously, to follow the light wherever it leads us, how many will remain behind like Herod in his palace, unwilling to take the short trip outside the walls to see God's new incarnation? — Alice Camille

Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

Isaiah 49:3, 5-6

Before his birth, the servant of the Lord is known and chosen for his task.

Psalm 40:1+3a, 6, 7-8, 9

To do God's will is the joy of those who wait for the divine summons.

1 Corinthians 1:1-3

Paul recognizes all who call upon Jesus
as part of a holy, universal church.

John 1:29-34

The Baptist sees Jesus coming and recognizes him at once as the awaited one.

KNOW AND TELL

God knows us from the womb, scripture says. That's a long acquaintance, and it comes with an intimate understanding of who we are and can become. No one can ever know us as God does. Which is also to say: nothing about us is hidden from God. Depending on how many secrets we keep from the world, this can be an appalling thought.

God knows us deeply, and our happiness lies in knowing God. Knowledge of God arrives in close proximity to the divine will. Isaiah describes the faithful servant conforming to God's service so precisely that God's strength is his, and God's light shines through him. As we become truer servants, we may borrow divine strength and reveal divine light! No wonder the psalmist cries: Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will!

Similarly, Paul reminds the Corinthians how true holiness makes us conduits for the radiance of Christ.

This is intriguing, since John the Baptist says something curious in chapter one of John's gospel, and he says it twice, which makes it significant. John says of Jesus: "I did not know him." Twice, in verses 31 and 33. If knowing Jesus is vital to faith, why does the Baptist emphasize his ignorance?

Some scholars ascribe the comment to the fourth gospel's resolute dismissal of a "friendly neighborhood Jesus." While Luke presents the Baptist as Jesus' cousin by twinning their infancy narratives, John's gospel turns the synoptic baby stories into a theological exploration of the Logos entering into time. The Christ of faith will not be bounced on a knee! Nor will he have cousins, apparently. Jesus and John are therefore strangers when they meet at the Jordan.

It seems rather a lot of trouble simply to disavow kinship. To Raymond Collins, the implications go deeper. In Jewish tradition, the Messiah was expected to arrive anonymously in the world—not with angel hosts singing the news, and stars signaling his position. Justin Martyr describes how this expectation presented an obstacle to faith for some: "But Christ—if He has indeed been born, and exists anywhere—is unknown, and does not even know Himself, and has no power until Elias come to anoint Him, and make Him manifest to all" (Dialogue with Trypho, VIII, 4).

The fourth gospel, facing the same objections, presents a more palatable entry. The Christ in Jesus is indeed hidden; even the forerunner didn't suspect his identity until the "day of choice"—the opportune hour of divine action. What secures the Baptist his place in the story is that, once Jesus is revealed, he testifies to him boldly. When the opportune hour comes to us and we see Jesus, do we do the same?

A heartfelt “THANK YOU” to all those who contributed generously during the Christmas Season to the support of the parish, to floral offerings for the altar, and who shared their gifts and talents in the various liturgies and events of the holy season. Thanks to the folks at Academy Florist for their unexpected donation of further Christmas poinsettias which have been placed in the church and in the parish hall. Fr. Robert and all the members of the parish staff express their sincere appreciation to those who blessed them with various gifts, especially their love and prayers! God bless you all!

SERVING OUR SENIORS "S.O.S." will welcome Lynda Trono from West Broadway Community Services on Tuesday, January 24, 2017. Our gathering will held at 1:00 p.m. here at our Saint John XXIII Parish Centre (probably in room 12 downstairs). Lynda will describe their inner-city outreach program. Become aware, bring a friend. This promises to be a very informative presentation.

PLEASE NOTE

Re Parking Spots for Persons with Disabilities

Now that symbols on the pavement marking areas for handicapped parking are covered in snow, parishioners are reminded to be courteous enough to leave the 5 designated parking spaces immediately in front of the south doors free for the use of those who need them. Even though the symbols are at times not too visible in the winter, please remember that according to the Winnipeg Parking By-Law it is an offense to park in a designated Disabled parking stall without displaying a valid Provincial Permit. Thank you for your cooperation.

KNITTING GROUP: The members of the Knitting Group will resume their bi-weekly gathering on Wednesday, January 11, 2017 at 1:00 p.m. downstairs in room 10. We are starting to work on items for the baby layettes to be forwarded through the Knights of Columbus next Mother's Day to the designated agency assisting mothers in need. Donations of baby yarn will be greatly appreciated. If anyone has been knitting and has items ready to be dropped off, they may do so beginning January 11, 2017. For more information, you may contact Beverly Hewitt at 204-885-1202 or bevhe Witt@mymts.net

SERENA NATURAL FAMILY PLANNING CLASS: Serena teaches a comprehensive two hour class on the Sympto-Thermal Method, a scientifically based, highly effective method of Natural Family Planning. The next two class dates are Monday, January 9, 2017, and Monday, March 6, 2017, both starting at 7:00 p.m. Classes are held at the Misericordia Health Centre, 99 Cornish Ave., Winnipeg. For more information, call or text Serena at 204-783-0091 or email mbserena@gmail.com or check out our website www.serenamb.com

For other events in and around the Archdiocese of Winnipeg, please see information posted on bulletin boards at the north and south entrances of the church, and/or go to the website: www.archwinnipeg.ca/weekly_bulletin.php

OFFERING ENVELOPE BOXES FOR 2017 are ready for regular parishioners of Saint John XXIII to pick-up in the parish office following Masses or during office hours. Parishioners are encouraged to register for pre-authorized debit. Visitors may use "My Offering" envelopes available at the church entrance. New parishioners are encouraged to contact the parish office to register for pre-authorized debit or regular offering envelopes.

Collections Deposited December 25, 2016: Regular offertory & other offerings = Total $10,100.95

Collections Deposited December 31, 2016: Miscellaneous regular offertory & other offerings = Total $3,383.00

Collections Deposited January 1, 2017: Regular offertory & initial offering = Total $3,885.20

FUNDRAISING AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE: While our Parish is thankfully experiencing positive growth as new families move into our community and more children and youth are participating in our Faith Formation programs, it is apparent that our Parish is also in need of major fundraising activities/programs to help satisfy our ongoing financial obligations. The establishment of an effective Fundraising and Development Committee in this New Year will be critical to our Parish's financial well-being for the future. We are hoping to recruit suitable parishioners to form our new Fundraising and Development Committee. Such persons need to be those who speak positively about the Parish and are willing to set a good example for others in the community. In collaboration with the members of our Parish Finance Council, they will be called to work together to lead the Parish in various efforts to raise funds to support the services needed to carry out the mission of the Parish. If you have any constructive suggestions and/or are willing to help out, please let us know. Thank you for your thoughtful consideration.
